Housing and Households

- Of the 244,700 householders in owner-occupied dwellings purchased since 1996, 24% had monthly mortgage repayments in excess of €600 in the third quarter of 2003.
- First-time buyers of owner occupied dwellings bought since 1996, accounted for almost 50% (120,900) of purchasers. Over a quarter of these first time buyers were making monthly mortgage repayments in excess of €600 while a further 28% had repayments of over €400.
- Almost 62% of homeowners surveyed had no mortgage or loans on their dwellings in the third quarter of 2003.
- Home ownership in Ireland remains very high with over 75% of private dwellings in the state being owner occupied in 2003.
- In 2003 the average weekly rent in the private rented sector was €176.42 while the average weekly rent for all households renting from local authorities was €37.55.
- The majority of dwellings in 2003 were houses. Of these more than 607,000 were detached and just over 601,000 were semi-detached/terraced houses.

Introduction

This chapter deals with housing and households. The statistics are taken from the Censuses of Population from 1926 to 2002, and more recently, from the module on housing included in the Quarterly National Household Survey (QNHS) in quarter three of 2003. Some statistics on households by occupancy status, collected in the QNHS in 1998 are also included in Table 17.8.

Number and size of households

The number of private households has more than doubled since 1926, when there were 622,700 private households in the State. By 1991 the number had increased to 1,029,100 and in 2002 there were 1,288,000 private households. There were, on average, 4.48 persons per household in 1926. By 1991, average household size had fallen to 3.34 and the latest figure, for 2002, is 2.94 persons.

Age of dwelling

Table 17.4 provides an analysis of the housing stock by period of construction. Over half of the permanent housing units distinguished in the 2002 Census were built since 1971. The period since 1996, during which the population increased by 50,000 per year, accounted for 197,000 (15%) of the total housing stock. More than one third of these housing units were located in Dublin and the Mid-East regions. Population growth during the 1970s, which was on a par with that achieved in the most recent intercensal period, explains the relatively large proportion (16.9%) of the housing stock built during that period. Almost 18 per cent of houses in the South-East region were built before 1919 compared with one in eight houses in other regions.

Home ownership and rented accommodation

Table 17.5 shows that in 2002 about 230,000 dwellings were rented. Of these, almost 90,000 were rented from a Local Authority. Over 1 in 3 of all householders (460,000) owned their dwelling outright. Another 485,000 were paying a home loan or mortgage.

Home computing

Just over 797,000 (54.9%) of households had a home computer in June 2005, while 655,000 households (45.1%) had access to the Internet. This was an increase of over 148,000 households since June 2004, when 649,400 households had a home computer.

QNHS Q3 2003 Module on Housing and Households

Housing costs – mortgage repayments

Of the 244,700 householders in owner-occupied dwellings purchased since 1996, 24% had monthly mortgage repayments in excess of €600 in the third quarter (June to August) of 2003. This compared to just under 3% of those who purchased prior to 1996. Over 5.5% (13,500) of the recent purchasers indicated that their repayments were over €1,000 per month.

Almost 50% (120,900) of the 1996 or later purchasers were first-time buyers. Over a quarter of these first time buyers were making monthly mortgage repayments in excess of €600 while a further 28% had repayments of over €400. At a regional level the percentage of such first time buyers paying in excess of €600 was highest in Dublin at 46%. Interestingly over 75% of the recent first time buyers considered that their mortgages were either easy to manage (20.8%) or manageable (55.2%). Just over 10,000 (8.5%) perceived this cost to be difficult to manage.

Almost 62% of homeowners surveyed had no mortgage or loans on their dwellings in the third quarter of 2003. The majority of these homeowners purchased their homes before 1981 although it may be noted that around a quarter of the purchasers since 1996 also had no mortgage.

Home ownership in Ireland remains very high with over 75% of private dwellings in the state being owner occupied in 2003

Housing costs – rents

The average weekly rent in the private rented sector was €176.42. Average rents were highest in Dublin (€224.42) and the Mid-East (€184.44) while the Border and the Midlands regions had the lowest weekly figures of €110.47 and €124.97 respectively.

The average weekly rent for all households renting from local authorities was €37.55. Again average rents were highest in Dublin (€43.73) and lowest in the Border (€25.89) region.

First-time buyers

On a regional level, Dublin (25.0%) and the South-West (16.1%) accounted for the highest percentages of first-time buyers who have bought since 1996. Almost 90% of dwellings bought by first-time buyers in Dublin were semi-detached or terraced houses compared with almost 50% nationally and just over 15% in the West.

Almost 60% of recent first time buyer households had two or more persons employed. Over half (51.9%) bought dwellings that were built in the period 1996 to date and over 80% bought dwellings with either three (51.9%) or four (31.1%) bedrooms.

The vast majority of first time buyers perceived their dwellings to be suitable or very suitable on a range of criteria including such things as: distance to family and friends; closeness to work; and whether their dwelling was in a suitable neighbourhood with schools, shops and childcare facilities.

Table 17.14 to 17.18

Owner occupied private dwellings does not include those having or being acquired through a Local Authority scheme.

'Recent' refers to those bought since 1996.
